

Equi-Commun is online

Dear colleagues from the Vetsuisse Faculty

Equi-Commun is now online!

We, a research team from the Veterinary Public Health Institute, have launched a web-based data collection tool for the surveillance of equine symptoms reported by equine owners for the early detection of diseases in Switzerland.

Are you in contact with horses, involved in equine sports or even own one yourself? You can take part in our pilot project by reporting your observations on www-equi-commun.ch.

Please feel free to distribute the news among your professional and private circles! Every report counts and we very much appreciate you spreading the words! Thank you for the cooperation!
